Southerners Assail Proposal To end Segregation in Schools

Disorders See Progress Shown by Declaration of Truman Commission: $120,000,000 Aid for Needy Students Urged in Board's 2nd Report

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—Progress is shown by the Declaration of Truman Commission: $120,000,000 Aid for Needy Students Urged in Board's 2nd Report

The declaration of President Truman's Commission to investigate school segregation was made public today. The commission's recommendation was for the establishment of a $120,000,000 Federal fund to aid in the integration of schools.

The declaration said that the segregation of schools was a matter of grave concern to the nation. It recommended that the Federal government should take steps to ensure the equal education of all children, including Negro children.

The declaration also recommended that the Federal government should provide financial assistance to states and local school districts in the implementation of desegregation programs. It suggested that the fund should be used to finance the construction of new schools, the purchase of textbooks and other educational materials, and the training of teachers.

The declaration was applauded by civil rights leaders, who said that it was an important step toward the elimination of segregation in education. They called for the immediate implementation of the recommendations of the commission.

The declaration was issued by the President's Commission to investigate school segregation, which was appointed by the President in 1942.

A.F.L. Unions, Company Will Submit Wage-Est to Facing Board

C. I. O. Talks Stalled Over 26-Cent Increase; Impact of Wall Street

Size of Pay Raise to Be Negotiated

By W. H. L.

Western Union has withdrawn its demand for a 26 cent increase in the pay of its employees, and the company has agreed to submit the matter to a facing board.

The company had offered a 10 cent increase, but the union refused to accept it. The union had wanted a 26 cent increase, which would bring the average wage to $3.50 a day.

The company had said that it could not meet the union's demand, and that it was prepared to go to court if the union refused to accept the 10 cent increase.

The company has now agreed to submit the matter to a facing board, which will be composed of representatives of the company and the union. The facing board will be appointed by the President of the United States, and will have the power to make a final decision on the matter.

The union has welcomed the company's decision, and has said that it is willing to submit the matter to the facing board. It has said that it will not go to court, and that it will accept the decision of the facing board.

The union has also said that it will not strike, and that it will continue to work with the company.

The union has said that it is willing to accept a 26 cent increase, but that it is not willing to accept the 10 cent increase offered by the company.

U.N. Diplomats Slow to Claim Tax Exemption

Only 11 Delegations File; May Get Special, Fair, and Jewelry Tax-Free.

Once a handful of the classic China dormitory—sleek, white, and air-conditioned—the building now houses a number of the U.N. diplomats who have not yet learned that the American tax laws apply to international residences. Among those at the United Nations who have been informed of the situation are several who have already filed returns under these laws.

SECURITY COUNCIL. The diplomats have been billed by the Security Council in the past for their failure to file returns. The Security Council is a court of the United Nations, similar to our own Supreme Court, and it has the power to discipline diplomats who are not cooperative.

CHRISTMAS. The diplomats have been told that they must file returns by January 1. Failure to do so may result in a fine of $500, or a loss of $100, or both.
