THIS IS A JAM SESSION

Food of the Gods

A LETTER OF H.E. W. van den Berg's

By Ritchie CALDER

"The Israelites in Egypt were given bread fostered by pharaoh to be eaten during the next year. There were no vegetables, fruits, or other foods. The Israelites therefore refused to eat any of the food given them by pharaoh. Instead, they collected sticks and dried branches of trees and ate them as their food."

Science Survey

The Israelites in Egypt were given bread fostered by pharaoh to be eaten during the next year. There were no vegetables, fruits, or other foods. The Israelites therefore refused to eat any of the food given them by pharaoh. Instead, they collected sticks and dried branches of trees and ate them as their food.

Social Problems

When we wish great peace and stability among men, we shall have to find a solution to the problem of the destruction of the nation. We shall have to find a solution to the problem of the destruction of the nation. We shall have to find a solution to the problem of the destruction of the nation.

R>

Evening Fruittivities

Party kitchens have always been a rage in Paris in the evening, dinner parties Paris never do. The French like guests are always expected, and it is expected that they will be entertained properly. The French like guests are always expected, and it is expected that they will be entertained properly.

Without Comment

The Jordan River flows through the Dead Sea, which is the lowest point on earth. The Jordan River flows through the Dead Sea, which is the lowest point on earth.

Crossword No. 1443

MALTA, G.C.

London's Colonies and Dependencies

Esteemed by LONDON'S PROVINCES

Truce Daily

Truce Daily