

Zionists Announce Plans for Aid in U.S.

Technical Reports Will Be Sent to Israelis

Special to the Herald Tribune

PITTSBURGH, July 6.—The newly-elected national executive committee of the Zionist Organization of America considered at its first meeting today implementation of plans arrived at by the organization's convention which ended here yesterday.

An economic program adopted by the Z. O. A. recommended establishment of a standing committee on economic affairs to consider means of making available to Israel American technical progress and industrial knowledge. The executive committee also sent its constituents throughout the country resolutions providing for an intensification of Jewish education, stressing the fields of Jewish art, literature, music, and religion.

Specific plans in this cultural field call for establishment of a national network of adult schools, production of films, translation and publication of literature from Israel, support of the Hebrew language movement and awarding of more fellowships for advanced study to promising Jewish undergraduates. The program will be directed by Dr. Robert Gordis, of Rockaway Beach, Queens, national education chairman, and Carl Alpert, of Staten Island, director of the Z. O. A. education department.

Five winners of fellowships at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem and other institutions of Jewish higher learning were announced by the committee. The winners are Meyer A. Kaplan, Miss Batsheva Fishman and Miss Judith Tannenbaum, all of New York; Abba H. Salzman, of Chicago, and Miss Iola R. Schipler, of Newark, N. J.

The committee re-elected Milton Pollack, of Brooklyn, as chairman of the Z. O. A. finance committee. Dr. Sidney Marks, of Long Island, was re-elected national secretary.
