A few isolated Arabs were reported holding out in a small section of Safed. But it was said that the Haganah possessed the rest of the town, including its center, and had set up a military administration. As the Arab reports had said, the victory would give the Haganah dominance over the entire area.

Jacques de Reynier, Jerusalem head of the International Red Cross, was reported to be in Amman, Trans-Jordan, seeking some way of negotiating a truce for the city.

Egyptian Exit Guarded

JERUSALEM, May 6 (AP)—A convoy of six Egyptian buses carrying 115 Egyptian nationals and eight cars of Greeks left Jerusalem for Egypt this morning amid puffs of mortar bombs exploding into Mekor Haim and Katamon and a crossfire from rifles and machine guns.

The British sent seven Comet planes to Jerusalem to reinforce the garrison while the evacuation was being carried out.

A spokesman for the Jewish Agency replied to British Foreign Secretary Bevin's appeal for a cease-fire in Palestine with the accusation that the British were not trying to stop the "Arab invasion."
